

All That Matters Is Love

A poem by Simone G

Love is a feeling so amazing and divine
It makes the world beautiful and kind
It comes from accepting all that you are
Inspiring you to shine like the brightest star

Love is a gift, shared in many forms
It's magical in every silence and storm
Love is acceptance of all that is
A pillar to rely on when days are amiss

The more love is shared, the more it blossoms
You can share it with others
Even when you're scared
Every pain it can deal with
Every heart it can mend
For all that matters in the end is love.
